

Introducing Atlantic Express/L'Express Atlantique, effective April 2, 2009

The Saint Laurent, QC, Distribution Centre is just minutes from Pierre E. Trudeau International Airport (CYUL)

Western Logistics has been refining and expanding its operations in Atlantic Canada since late 2007, when our Dartmouth Distribution Centre opened. The acceptance by the office furniture and electronics manufacturers and resellers since then has been very gratifying indeed. Now we are ready for the next stage of development – the Atlantic Express.

The Atlantic Express/L'Express Atlantique will be a high-speed connection between Halifax and Montreal, starting April 2, 2009, first as a bi-weekly service, but soon becoming a daily service link between Atlantic Canada and Central Canada. Eastbound, it will serve the producers of office furniture and electronics as at present; Westbound, it will serve contract furniture manufacturers and freight forwarders moving sensitive, high-value product to destinations in Canada and USA, as far as the West Coast.

The speed and safety of this operation will delight even the most demanding client. Initially, it will leave Dartmouth, NS, at 1600, arriving Montreal at 0400 the next day, returning to Halifax later that day on the same schedule, and repeating the cycle. Connections to runs beyond Montreal will service all of Canada and key US areas in the Great Lakes and Southwest areas with equal speed.

Did you know?

That our fearless team in Edmonton continues to serve Yellowknife, NT, when the ice-roads are open? Here's a Western Logistics convoy delivering a large office furniture project after crossing the 60th Parallel then driving the ice road over the Mackenzie River to Yellowknife in February, 2009. Strict rules apply!
