

Hey, Winnipeg!
The “Atlantic Express” expedited service is coming soon

From its position at the “crossroads of Canada,” Winnipeg has a special place in Canadian transportation. It is also a major producer of furniture products, which is why Western Logistics first opened in Winnipeg 14 years ago, and built its terminal in St. Boniface in 2001.

One of the areas that has not been well served from Winnipeg is Atlantic Canada. That’s about to change! A dazzling new expedited direct service from Winnipeg to Atlantic Canada will start up on June 1, 2010, with single-line responsibility from the shipping doors in Winnipeg to the customer warehouses in St. John’s.

This service will “knock the socks off” furniture customers in all Atlantic centres. Operating on a strict schedule, “Atlantic Express” will depart Winnipeg on Friday, will be relayed at Montreal on Monday to Moncton on Wednesday, to Halifax on Thursday, where the Western Logistics trailer will be back-filled and loaded on the Oceanex “Sanderling” for the ocean voyage, arriving in St. John’s Sunday night. On Monday, Craig May, Western Logistics’ driver in St. John’s, will make deliveries off the same trailer loaded in Winnipeg.

If volume to Atlantic Canada is not sufficient to fill the “Atlantic Express,” no problem! The schedule will be maintained by filling the trailer with product for Quebec, and removed at Montreal, then back-filled, before proceeding on to Moncton.
